Issue 3

HAPPY NEW YEAR!!

It's beginning to look a lot like, well, the New Year! The RedWolves are amped up and ready to get the 2017 season underway. There are SO MANY new things that will be introduced this year that will absolutely, positively blow you away!

2017 Brings Change, Exciting Endeavors-

The 2017 RedWolves Baseball season is just a few months away and we couldn't be more excited for it to arrive.

There are many things on the docket for next season you are going to love.

Ticket deals. Ticket packages. FREE GIFTS. FREE FOOD. That's right we said it... FREE!

The RedWolves will soon be unveiling their new 2017 ticket packages that bring incredible value to an already awesome deal.

- Florence's longest-lasting, hottest baseball team will be bringing in new talent this season.

Head Coach Travis Graves will take the reigns in his first year as the RedWolves skipper, assisted by Pitching Coach David Diaz.

Graves was asked what he was most excited for in the upcoming season and said, "I'm most excited to be working with a first-class organization that does everything the right way. I'm excited about getting these kids into Florence, teaching them the game of baseball and watching everyone come together to achieve the common goal of trying to win the 2017 CPL Championship."

- Host families are a huge part of the RedWolves' success and we wouldn't be where we are today without their help and support.

We caught up with Host Parents Fred and Becky Fenimore to share their story, which can be found on page two (2).

Rewards of being a RedWolves Host Family

Fred & Becky Finimore's Editorial

We relocated to Florence at Christmas time in 2000 due to a transfer with the company that Fred worked for, and at the time he was traveling [throughout] South Carolina and Georgia. We got involved with the community through his membership with the Chamber of Commerce and the May Fly Air Show. Becky got involved with the Florence Welcoming Club and doing some custom sewing for people. We have two grown daughters, one in North Carolina and one in Colorado. We had thought about hosting players in the past, but with travel schedules, we didn't think that it would work. After retiring, but still traveling a great deal, we decided to give it a try after some gentle urging from the Assistant General Manager.

2016 was our first experience at being a host family for the Florence RedWolves. It was quite an experience, as we had never attended a RedWolves game since moving to Florence. Since Fred had retired, that gave us the opportunity to attend the games and support the players. We only missed a couple of home games and attended several of the away games. We felt it was not only right to support the team, but also the player staying with us—since he was giving up his summer with family and friends to fine tune his skills. We wanted them to know that they weren't alone. Being around not only the players, but the interns working with the RedWolves, gave us a whole new perspective of young people coming up to lead our country. We also got to meet and work with other host families and player's families.

We initially hosted one player, but ended up the summer with two in the house. We all enjoyed a conversation and meal before they left for the day. We are excited about the upcoming season and look forward to hosting another player, maybe one that stayed with us last year!

After doing it once, you will find it hard not to continue!!

2017 Internships & Sponsor Appreciation

January 2017, Issue 3

The Florence RedWolves Baseball Team has several internships available each summer. Interns will get the opportunity to learn how to run a baseball club on a daily basis, while also working in an exciting, fast-paced environment.

Students majoring in Sports Management / Administration, Marketing, Retail Management, Public Relations, Promotions, Journalism, Communications, Hospitality, Tourism, Photography, Videography and more, can benefit from an internship with the RedWolves. It allows you to work with an established team and connect yourself with a growing league, as you gain the valuable experience to further your career.

Some of our past interns have gone on to work for teams such as the Atlanta Falcons, Arizona Diamondbacks, Hickory Crawdads (Texas Rangers Class- A), Charleston RiverDogs (New York Yankees Class- A), and even with us, the RedWolves!

Head on over to our website and fill out an application today!
